

FIVE NAVY MEDICINE MOMENTS IN FEBRUARY 2019 [PHOTOS]

Every day, more than 63,000 Navy Medicine personnel are operating forward around the world, providing agile and rapid health care support to the Navy and Marine Corps. Saving lives wherever our forces operate is what we do, be it above the sea, on the sea, below the sea or on the battlefield. The following photos depict important events and our medical professionals at work during February 2019.

Twentynine Palms, Calif. (Feb. 8, 2019) — A U.S. Navy corpsmen with 3rd Battalion, 3rd Marine Regiment, Marine Air-Ground Task Force-6 (MAGTF-6) helps stage packs in preparation for an Air Assault Course (AAC) during Integrated Training Exercise (ITX) 2-19 aboard Marine Corps Air-Ground Combat Center Twentynine Palms, Calif., Feb. 8, 2019. ITX creates a challenging, realistic training environment that produces combat-ready forces capable of operating as an integrated MAGTF. (U.S. Marine Corps photo by Sgt. Victor A. Mancilla)

UNDISCLOSED LOCATION (Feb. 12, 2019) — U.S. Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Jeff Kaudze, a hospital corpsman with shock trauma platoon, Combat Logistics Detachment 34, attached to Special Purpose Marine Air-Ground Task Force Crisis Response-Central Command, sprints to the scene of a notionally wounded service member during a casualty evacuation exercise in southwest Asia Feb. 12, 2019. The Marines of India Company, 3rd Battalion, 4th Marine Regiment, also attached to SPMAGTF-CR-CC, joined Sailors with CLD-34, and U.S. Soldiers assigned to Charlie Company, 3rd Battalion, 126th Aviation Regiment, to practice a realistic scenario in which all three services contributed specialized life-saving skills on simulated casualties that were notionally transported to a higher echelon of care.
